A Message from Your Treasurer

As we now find ourselves halfway through the school year and enjoying the brisk winter weather, I would like to look back on the highlights from the Saving Makes Cents program this past fall. There are hundreds of schools currently participating in Saving Makes Cents and my office was able to visit 22 of these schools since September. My Financial Education Department is available to visit your school and support your program upon your request.

One of our most successful programs in 2009 was our Four Downs For Finance essay contest, and I would like to commend the over 1,000 students that participated in the contest this fall. The grand prizewinner and two runners up were invited to the last New England home game in Foxboro on December 27th. This grand prizewinner will also receive a $500 savings account and a visit to his school from New England offensive lineman Dan Koppen. Included in this newsletter are pictures from the game and a list of our most recent essay winners. We look forward to the participation of your students in the next Four Downs For Finance contest – maybe Dan Koppen will be visiting your school in 2010!

Due to the success of our Four Downs for Finance contest this fall, we are offering a new contest this winter called Saving For Your Future. Students will be encouraged to write an essay on the importance of saving for higher education. In April, a grand prize winner will be selected from a series of weekly winners and will receive a scholarship to further their education. The scholarship amount will be based on how many saves Boston goalie Tim Thomas makes this season.

Please do not hesitate to contact my office if you have any questions regarding our Saving Makes Cents program. For the latest updates on weekly winners, financial tips, and other Treasury and Financial Education-related news, be sure to follow us on Twitter and become a fan on Facebook. I wish you the best for a successful 2010.

Sincerely,

Timothy P. Cahill

Treasurer and Receiver General

Grand Prize Winner And Remaining 2009 Weekly Winners!

Treasurer Tim Cahill's Financial Education Department teamed up with Metro Credit Union and WBZ-FM 98.5 The Sports Hub for the "Four Downs for Finance" Contest.

Students in grades K-12 completed an essay about the importance of saving money, what they are doing to save money, and what they are saving for! Each week during the regular season three winning essays were selected. From the weekly winners, one grand prize winner and two runners up were chosen and invited to enjoy a game day experience at this season's last New England home game on December 27th.

Runner Up Kylie Bringola Grade 5, Killam Elementary School Reading

Grand Prizewinner Marvin Sosa Mendez, in grade 10 at Everett High School, will also receive:

- a $500 savings account and
- a visit to his class from Treasurer Cahill and offensive lineman Dan Koppen

Runner Up Emily Rivard Grade 7, Venerini Academy Shrewsbury

Thank you to all contest participants!

The following list recognizes the weekly winners for the final 5 weeks* of the contest:

Caroline Seppa from Marguerite E. Peaslee Elementary in Northborough (grade 4)
Chad MacMillan from Oak Ridge School in East Sandwich (grade 5)

^{*} Please check out our Fall 2009 Newsletter for the list of winners from prior weeks.

Save with your head Give with your heart

While many students wrote about how they are saving money, a number of students also discussed how they will use that money. In honor of Valentine's Day, here are some quotes from students that were using not just their mind, but their heart in planning how to responsibly spend their savings.

"Every day of my life, I have always had everything I need and almost everything I want. Some people don't even have what they need. I feel bad for them so I had a lemonade stand to raise money for them to get them what they need." Nicholas Ferrara, Grade 3 Waybright School, Saugus

"Saving money is an absolute necessity because in less than a year I am entering an intense fourteen year journey to becoming a specialized children's neurosurgeon."

Tariq Fayyad, Grade 12 Holy Name Central Catholic High School, Worcester

"I will also use the money I save up to send my grandmother in Ghana. When I do this, she will know that I care and think about her even though we are separated by thousands of miles.

...The money we save up may save one of our loved ones."

Mercedes Aquemfra, Grade 12

Holy Name Central Catholic High School, Worcester

"The most important reason why I am saving money is because my family is trying to get my brother to come over here from El Salvador."

Damaris Reyes, Grade 5

Ford School, Lypp

"I'm trying to save money to buy something really special for my Mom and Dad but not one thing for both of them but one for each because they have done so much for me. Now it's my turn to do something for them."

Vanesa Perea, Grade 3 Kelly School, Chelsea

Four Downs For Finance School Spotlight

We would like to commend all of the schools that participated in our Four Downs For Finance essay contest this fall. A school's interest in teaching our youth valuable financial skills will mean a more promising future for students. Listed below are the schools with the highest number of participants. The methods to encourage participation varied. Schools like Morrison learned about the contest through their participation in our Saving Makes "Cents" program. Millbury gave the entry form to all computer and business classes; the computer classes did the essay as a class assignment. This is similar to East Taunton, who used the essay as an exercise to prepare students for MCAS testing. Ford also used it as a writing assignment for the whole school, teaching students in all grade levels (1st - 5th) about the importance of money management. With an incentive program in areas such as citizenship and academics, Higgins gave points through the incentive program to the grade level that submitted the most entries.

- -Robert L. Ford School, Lynn*
- -Morrison Elementary School, Braintree
- -East Taunton Elementary School, Taunton

-Douglas Waybright Elementary School, Saugus*
 -J Henry Higgins Middle School, Peabody
 -Millbury Junior/Senior High School, Millbury

Total Number of Participating Students: 1,007
